CONSTITUTION

UNITED STATES.

AS PASSED IN CONVENTION, SEPTEMBER 17, 1787.

WITH ALL THE AMENDMENTS,

Passed, and now in force.

WE, the People of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE, I.

SECT. I. ALL legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

SECT. 2. The House of Representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several states, and the electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislature.

No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen.

Representatives and direct taxes shall be appointed among the several states which may be included in with this Union, according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each state shall have at least one representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the state of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, N. Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three.

When vacancies happen in the representation from any state, the Executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

The House of Representatives shall choose their Speaker and other officers; and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

SECT. 3. The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, chosen by the legislature thereof, for six years; and each senator shall have one vote.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year; so that one third may be chosen every second year; and if vacancies happen by resignation, or otherwise, during the recess of the Legislature of any state, the Executive thereof may make temporary appointments, until the next meeting of the Legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.

No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained to the age of 30 years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state for which he shall be chosen.

The Vice President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided.

The Senate shall choose their other officers, and also a President, pro tempore, in the absence of the Vice President, or when he shall exercise the office of President of the United States.

The Senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose, they shall be upon oath or affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside: And no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two thirds of the members present.

Judgment, in cases of impeachment, shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honour, trust or profit, under the United States; but the party convicted shall nevertheless, be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment, according to law.

Sect. 4. The times, places, and manner of holding election for senators and representatives, shall be prescribed in each state by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may, at any time, by law, make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing senators.

The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

Sect. 5. Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner, and under such penalties as each house may provide.

Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behaviour, and, with the concurrence of two thirds, expel a member.

Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may, in their judgment, require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house, on any question, shall, at the desire of one fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

Neither house, during the session of Congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than 3 days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

Sect. 6. The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall, in all cases, except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States, shall be a member of either house, during his continuance in office.

Sect. 7. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills.

Every bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the President of the United States; if he approve, he shall sign it, but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journals, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all such cases, the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill, shall be entered on the journals of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the President, within ten days, (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

Every order, resolution, or vote, to which the concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the President of the United States; & before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or, being disapproved by him, shall be re-passed by two thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

Sect. 8. The Congress shall have power,

To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises, to pay the debts, and provide for the common defence and the general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States.

To borrow money on the credit of the United States ;

To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and with the Indian tribes ;

To establish an uniform rule of naturalization, and uniform laws, on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States ;

To coin money, regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coin, and fix the standard of weights and measures ;

To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States ;

To establish post offices and post roads ;

To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing for limited times to authors and inventors, the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries ;

To constitute tribunals inferior to the supreme courts ;

To define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offences against the law of nations ;

To declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water ;

To raise and support armies, but no appropriation of money to that use, shall be for a longer term than two years ;

To provide and maintain a navy ;

To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces ;

To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions ;

To provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the states respectively, the appointment of the officers, & the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress ;

To exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever, over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular states, and the acceptance of Congress, become the seat of the government of the United States, and to exercise like authority over the places purchased by the consent of the legislature of the state, in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock-yards, and other needful buildings ; And

To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this constitution in the government of the U. States, or in any department or officers thereof.

SECT. 9. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the duties now existing shall think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the year One Thousand Eight Hundred and Eight, but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

The privilege of the writ of Habeas Corpus shall not be suspended, unless when it causes rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it.

No bill of attainder or ex post facto law shall be passed.

No capitation, or other direct tax, shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration herein before directed to be taken.

No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any state. No preference shall be given by any regulation of commerce or revenue to the ports of one state over those of another; nor shall vessels bound to, or from, one state, be obliged to enter, clear, or pay duties in another.

No money shall be drawn from the treasury, but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States:— And no person holding any office of profit or trust under them, shall, without the consent of Congress, accept of any present, emolument, office, or title, of any kind whatever, from any king, prince, or foreign state.

SECT. 10. No state shall enter into any treaty, alliance, or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money, emit bills of credit; make any thing but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, or grant any title of nobility.

No state shall, without the consent of Congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws; and the net produce of all duties and imposts, laid by any state on imports or exports, shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and controul of the Congress.

No state shall, without the consent of Congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops, or ships of war in the time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another state, or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

SECT. 1. The Executive Power shall be vested in a President of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the Vice President, chosen for the same term, be elected as follows :

Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the Congress; but no senator or representative or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the House of Representatives shall immediately choose by ballot one of them for President; and if no person has a majority, then from the five highest on the list the said house shall, in like manner, choose the President. But in choosing the President the votes shall be taken by states; the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice.

In every case, after the choice of a President, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the Vice President. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the senate shall choose from them by ballot the Vice-President.

The Congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes; which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

No person, except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States, at the time of the adoption of this constitution; shall be eligible to the office of President ; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

In case of the removal of the President from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the Vice-President, and the Congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation, or inability, both of the President and Vice President, declaring what officer shall then act as President, and such officer shall act accordingly, until the disability be removed, or a President shall be elected.

The President shall, at stated times, receive for his services, a compensation, which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

Before he enters on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation :

“ I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States.”

SECT. 2. The President shall be Commander in Chief of the army and navy of the U. States, and of the militia of the several states, when called into the actual service of the United States ; he may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices, and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offences against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur ; and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls, judges of the supreme court, and all other officers of the United States, whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law. But the Congress may by law vest the appointment of such inferior officers, as they think proper, in the President alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

The President shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

Sect. 3. He shall from time to time give to the Congress information of the state of the union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them, and in case of disagreement between them, with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers; he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

Sect. 4. The President, Vice-President, and all civil officers of the United States, shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of, treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE. III.

Sect. 1. The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The judges both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behaviour, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services, a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

Sect. 2. The judicial power shall extend to all cases, in law and equity, arising under this constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more states, between a state and citizens of another state, between citizens of different states, between citizens of the same state claiming lands under grants of different states, and between a state or the citizens thereof, and foreign states, citizens or subjects.

In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be a party, the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction. In all other cases before-mentioned, the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction both as to law and fact, with such exceptions, and under such regulations, as the Congress shall make.

The trial of all crimes, except in case of impeachment, shall be by jury; and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as the Congress may by law have directed.

Sec. 3. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason, unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

The Congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason, shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attained.

ARTICLE IV.

Sec. 1. Full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of every other state. And the Congress may by general law prescribe the manner in which such acts, records, and proceedings may be proved, and the effect thereof.

Sec. 2. The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states.

A person charged in any state with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice, and be found in another state, shall, on demand of the executive authority of the state from which he fled, be delivered up to be removed to the state having jurisdiction of the crime.

No person held to service or labour in one state, under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labour, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labour may be due.

Sec. 3. New states may be admitted by the Congress into this Union; but no new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state; nor any state be formed by the junction of two or more states, or parts of states, without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned, as well as of the Congress.

The Congress shall have power to dispose of, and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States, or of any particular state.

Sec. 4. The United States shall guarantee to every state in this Union, a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion ; and on application of the legislature, or of the executive (when the legislature cannot be convened) against domestic violence.

ARTICLE V.

The Congress, whenever two thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or on the application of the legislatures of two thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress ; Provided, that no amendments which may be made prior to the year One Thousand Eight Hundred and Eight, shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the 9th section of the first article ; and that no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate.

ARTICLE VI.

All debts contracted and engagements entered into, before the adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution, as under the confederation.

This Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof ; and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land ; and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, any thing in the Constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding.

The senators and representatives before-mentioned, and the members of the several state legislatures, and all the executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several states, shall be bound by oath or affirmation, to support this Constitution : but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII:

The ratification of the Convention of nine states, shall be sufficient for the establishment of this Constitution between the states so ratifying the same.

DONE in CONVENTION, by the unanimous consent of the states present, the seventeenth day of September, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Seven Hundred and Eighty Seven, and of the Independence of the United States of America the Twelfth.

GEORGE WASHINGTON, President.

ARTICLES.

In addition to, and amendment of, the Constitution of the United States of America, proposed by Congress, and ratified by the Legislatures of the several states, pursuant to the fifth article of the original constitution.

[By the returns made into the secretary of state's office, it appears that the first article which accompanied the following amendments was agreed to by only seven states—the second, by four; and, therefore, the e are not obligatory.—All the remainder, having been ratified by nine states, are of equal obligation with the constitution.] August 12, 1792.

III. Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press, or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

IV. A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed.

V. No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house, without the consent of the owner; nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

VI. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated; and no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation; and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

VII. No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment by a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia when in actual service, in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case, to be a witness against himself; nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation, VIII. In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury, of the state and district, wherein the crime shall have been committed; which district shall have been previously ascertained by law; and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favour; and to have the assistance of counsel for his defence.

IX. In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved; and no fact tried by a jury shall be otherwise re-examined in any court of the United States, than according to the rules of common law.

X. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed; nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

XI. The enumeration in the constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

XII. The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people.

[The following Article proposed by Congress, in June 1794, as an amendment to the Constitution, having been ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the states, is consequently to be considered as part of the constitution.]

The judicial powers of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by citizens of another state or by citizens or subjects of any foreign state.

FROM THE REVENUE LAWS:

Wherein the several parts of the acts are digested, and transposed under distinct heads, agreeably to the subjects with which they have relation.

I. Of the Duty of Masters of Vessels.

EVERY master of a vessel, bound to the district of Nottingham, must, on penalty of five hundred dollars, deposit with the surveyor, of the port of Town Creek, a manifest of the cargo, unless he shall have previously delivered one to some officer of the customs coming on board; bound to the district of Tappahannock, with the surveyor of the port of Urbanna; to the district of Bermuda Hundred, or City Point, with the collector of Norfolk and Portsmouth, or of Hampton; to the district of South Quay, with the collector of Edenton. Which manifest, the respective collectors and surveyors must, after registry, transmit duly certified, to the officer with whom entry is to be made.

Also, every master of a vessel, belonging wholly or in part, to citizens of the United States, must, on arrival from any foreign country, have an accurate and true manifest of the cargo on board; and in default thereof, he forfeits the value of all goods not included in such manifest, unless due proof be made, that no part of the cargo had been unshipped since taken on board, and that such manifest had been lost, or mislaid or defaced by accident, or was incorrect by mistake.

Which manifest, every master of a vessel, as aforesaid, must, on penalty of a sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, produce to the first officer of the customs, who shall appear on board after his arrival within four leagues of the coasts of the United States; and also to the first such officer of the customs, who shall appear on board after his arrival in a district in which any part of his cargo is to be discharged; delivering in either case a copy thereof, by himself subscribed. The production of the manifest and receipt of the copy, such officer must certify respectively, on penalty of five hundred dollars; certifying on the original, the day and year when produced, and the delivery of a copy; and on the copy the day and year it was delivered. He must also transmit said copy to the collector of the district to which such vessel is bound.

If any part of the cargoes of such vessels, as laden with goods and bound to the United States, have arrived within four leagues of the coast, be unladen previous to their coming into port, and being legally authorised to unladen, all the goods so unladen, and any vessel or boat into which they may be put are forfeited; and the master and mate of the vessel so unladen, forfeit, each, One Thousand Dollars; and every other person aiding and assisting, treble the value of the goods unladen.—These forfeitures are not however, incurred in case of unavoidable accident, necessity, or distress of weather, if duly notified and strictly proved.

Also, if any ship or vessel has arrived within the limits of a district of the United States, from a foreign country, she leaves or attempts to leave it, (unless to proceed to a more interior district,) previous to report and entry made, the master forfeits 400 dollars. And the collector, naval officer, surveyor, or any revenue cutters, may arrest and bring her back; unless the departure was occasioned by distress of weather, distress of enemies, or other necessity, which in either case must be strictly proved.

Further, every master of a vessel (ships of war and public packets excepted) must within twenty-four hours after his arrival in any port of the United States, (if the usual hours of business will permit) make report thereof to the chief officer of the customs at the port, and within forty-eight hours, a further report of the cargo, and deliver a manifest to the collector. In default of which, he forfeits one thousand dollars.

But masters of vessels, whereof only part of the cargoes is destined to any particular port of the United States, may after paying or securing the duties of such part, and giving bond equal to the amount of duties on the remainder, that no part thereof shall be landed in the United States without due entry, proceed to the port or place of their destination,

And when the cargoes of any vessels are destined to ports in different districts, the masters thereof may proceed from district to district, paying in each district, the duties on such goods as may be delivered therein, and giving bond to the collector of the district where they first arrived, for their due entry in every other district, and also obtaining from the respective collectors, to whom any part of their cargoes may be reported, copies of such reports, and certificates of the quantity and particulars of the goods delivered.—Any master, in default of obtaining such copy and certificate, or neglecting to produce them to any subsequent collector, forfeits five hundred dollars.—But in case of spirits, such certificates must be had from, and produced to the officers of inspection.

Sea-stores being exempt from duty, must be designated as such in the master's report, and if excessive, the duty may be estimated, on the excess, the value whereof is forfeited, unless such duty be paid; as also treble the value of any article thereof, if landed for sale. Vessels not bound to the United States, but putting in, in distress, the master and mate must, within twenty four hours, make protest, setting forth the circumstances of the distress, before a notary public, or other person duly authorized; and, within forty-eight hours, report of the cargo, as in other cases, and the distress being duly certified by the wardens of the port, permits may, if necessary, be granted for unloading: the collectors causing the goods unladen to be stored, and, if damaged, or if necessary in repairing the ship, allowing them, the duties thereon being first paid, to be sold.

Masters of vessels bound to foreign ports, previous to obtaining a clearance, must deliver to the collector of the district from which they are about to sail, manifests of their cargoes; and any master departing without a clearance, forfeits two hundred dollars.

The penalty of false swearing, as well of masters of vessels, as of the owners or consignees of goods, or their factors or agents, is fine or imprisonment, or both: not exceeding, in case of the former, one thousand dollars; of the latter one year.

No master of a vessel arriving at any port where there is a post-office, may report or make entry, till he has delivered to the post-master all letters in his possession, directed to any person within the United States.

2. Of the Duty of the Owners or Consignees of Goods.

Within fifteen days after the master of any vessel shall have made report to the collector, the owners or consignees, or their factors or agents must, on oath or affirmation, make entry with the said collector, of the goods consigned to them, particularizing the marks, numbers and contents of each package ; or if in bulk, the quantity and quality ; producing the original invoices, documents, and bills of lading, and declaring, that should any other goods afterwards appear to be consigned to them, they will make it known in order to a due entry thereof.

Articles exempt from duty, as clothes, books, house hold furniture, &c. must be separately and distinctly entered by the owner or his agent : who, according to the best of his knowledge, must make oath respecting such owner, his occupation, arrival or expected arrival ; and that the said articles are really intended for his, or his family's use, and not for sale ; which oath being endorsed on the entry, must be subscribed by the person making it. And in case such person be not the real owner of the goods, he must give bond, that a like oath, shall within a year be had of the real owner, either taken before the collector with whom the entry is made, or produced to him duly executed. A copy of which oath and entry must be transmitted to the secretary of the treasury.

Report and entry must also be made on the re-importation of articles of the growth or manufactures of the United States. Such articles being duty free, their indentity must be carefully proved. For which purpose, the oaths of such persons as have knowledge of the facts are required, relative to the time of their exportation, the ship in which and the person by whom exported ; and if imported into any other district than that from which they were exported, a certificate from the collector of the district, certifying their exportation ; such certificate, however, being dispensed with, where it cannot be immediately produced, on giving bond for its production within four months.

No goods imported from a foreign country may be unladen till the duties, agreeably to an estimate made by the collector and naval officer (where there is one at the port) are paid or secured ; and a permit signed by the said collector, and countersigned by the said naval officer (where there is one at the port) granted ; nor in any case, except by special licence unless between sun-rise and sun-set. Goods unladen in violation of these restrictions (as also the vessels and her tackle, where the value of the goods amount to four hundred dollars) are forfeited ; and every person concerned therein incurs a penalty of four hundred dollars, of being advertised in the public papers, and incapacity of holding office for seven years. Alio goods requiring to be weighed or gaged, may not, on penalty of forfeiture, be removed from the wharf where first landed, without the presence of a proper officer, till it be done.

Goods where the entry does not specify the particulars, are required to be stored till the particulars are ascertained, and the duties adjusted. And in all cases, where the final adjustment of the duties exceed the estimate thereof before taken the difference is to be paid to the collector; and where it is less than such estimate, the party having paid or secured them agreeably thereto, to be refunded or credited, as the case may be.

THE officers of the customs are required to take oath and give bond for the faithful discharge of the duties of their respective offices; and for default of the former, they incur a penalty of two hundred dollars.

The collectors are empowered, in presence of the naval officer, where there is one, to administer the necessary oaths to masters of vessels, the owners of goods, &c. And collectors, naval officers, and surveyors of ports, may, in case of absence or sickness, act by deputy.

To superintend the delivery of goods, inspectors may be put and kept on board of vessels, while lying in port, or while going from district to district, may prohibit any goods from being unladed without a permit, and after sun-set, secure the hatches, which may not be opened, except in their presence, on penalty of two hundred dollars.—In like manner the officers of the customs, including those of the revenue cutters, may as well without as within their respective districts, go on board of all such vessels as, bound to the United States, have arrived within four leagues of the coast, may demand manifests, examine the cargoes, and designate any trunk or package, being separate from the rest of the cargo, sealing the same, if thought proper, and transmitting to the collectors of the districts to which such vessels are bound, a particular account thereof; and any such trunk or package, on arrival, not appearing, and the seal being broken, subjects the master to a penalty of two hundred dollars. Such officers may, in like circumstances, make seizures; where goods are legally forfeited; and if, in any case, impede-ed or resisted in the execution of their duty, the person offending forfeits a sum not exceeding four hundred dollars.

Entries, on the delivery of the cargoes of vessels, must, when such delivery is completed, be compared with the entries of the owners, or consignees, and the result endorsed on the respective entries, and subscribed by the officers making the comparison. And in case any package which shall have been reported, be missing, the master forfeits five hundred dollars; but may save the penalty by making due proof before proper authority, that no part of his cargo since taken on board, had been unshipped, except as contained in his report, or that such disagreement was by accident or mistake.

In case any goods, other than salt and coal, remain on board any vessel fifteen days after the master's report is required to be made, the same must, by the inspectors, be delivered into the custody of the collector: who keeping them at the risk of the owner, may, at the expiration of nine months, if claim be not previously made, cause them to be appraised by two reputable merchants (to ascertain the duties thereon) and sold at public auction, retaining the duties, and paying the overplus, if any, for the use of the owner, into the treasury of the United States. And when goods are damaged, or not accompanied with the original invoice, the duties may be ascertained by appraisement of two merchants, the collector choosing one, and the owner the other; or goods not accompanied with invoices may, at the option and risk of the owner, be kept by the collector till the invoice be obtained. But goods entered, and not invoiced, are forfeited; and any collector suspecting invoices to be not according to the true value of the goods, may cause an appraisement thereof to be made, as in case of damaged goods.

On suspicion of fraud, packages, whereof an entry has been made, may in the presence of two or more reputable merchants be opened and examined; and in case of disagreement, unless it be proved to have been by accident or mistake, such articles as disagree with their respective entries, are subject to forfeiture. Goods concealed, with intention to defraud the revenue, are also, if found, subject to forfeiture. And any person purchasing goods liable to seizure, knowing them to be such, forfeits double their value.

Officers of the customs, demanding or receiving other than legal fees, incur a penalty of two hundred dollars; and accepting a bribe or reward, for conniving at a false entry of vessels or goods, a penalty of not less than two hundred, nor greater than two thousand dollars. And persons giving or offering such bribe or reward, incur a like penalty.

IN all cases where the duties do not exceed fifty dollars, they must be paid immediately; but where they exceed that sum, they may be either paid immediately, or secured by bond, for their payment, if accruing on West India goods, other than salt, in four months; on salt in nine months; on wines in twelve months; and on all other articles, teas excepted, one half in six, one quarter in nine, and the remainder in twelve months; which bond may at the option of the obligator, either include one or more sureties, or, without sureties, be accompanied with a deposit of part of the goods. And the duties on teas may be secured by a bond with sureties, payable in one year; or by bond, without sureties, in double their amount, payable in two years; the teas being deposited at the risk and expense of the importers, in warehouses agreed on between them and an inspector. And in case of deposit, any part of the teas may be delivered to the owners on paying, or further securing the payment of the duties, by bond, with sureties to be paid, where the duties do not exceed one hundred dollars in four months; where they exceed one hundred, and do not exceed five hundred dollars, in eight months; or where they exceed five hundred dollars, in twelve months. But the credit by the last mentioned bond must not exceed two years from the deposit of the teas; the collector then having power to cause so much thereof to be sold at public auction, as will discharge the arrears of duties still due, with cost of sale.

Bonds for duties, not being paid at the time they become due, the collectors are required to institute suits for their recovery; and in case of insolvency, the debts due to the United States have priority.

V. Of the manner in which goods must be imported.

Spirits, Wines and Teas, must, on pain of forfeiture, at least of the two former, be landed under the superintendance of some officer of inspection, to whom all permits from collectors for their landing must be previously produced.

Distilled spirits may not be imported in any cask which shall have been marked pursuant to any law respecting such spirits, on pain of forfeiture of the spirits, and the ship or vessel importing them. Nor may any distilled spirits, except arrack, and sweet cordials, be imported in casks of less capacity than ninety gallons, on pain of forfeiture. Ale, beer or porter, may not be imported in less casks than of the capacity of forty gallons, or in less packages than six dozen of bottles, on pain of forfeiture thereof, and of the ship or vessel importing them.

No goods, other than household furniture, and cloths of persons coming into the United States, for the purpose of becoming inhabitants, may be brought from a foreign country, into any district thereof, Louisville, Champlain, and South Hero excepted, in any other manner than by sea; nor by sea in vessels less than thirty tons burthen, on pain of forfeiting of all such goods, and the carriages, teams, or vessels by which conveyed,

THE FOLLOWING DUTIES,

ARE IMPOSED ON THE TONNAGE OF

SHIP OR VESSELS,

TO WIT:—

ON ships or vessels of the United States when entered from any foreign port or place; and when entered into a district in one state from a district in another state (other than an adjoining state on the sea coast, or on a navigable river; and other than vessels duly licenced, employed in the coasting trade, or in the bank or whale fisheries, which are exempt from paying tonnage, while so employed, more than once in a year,) having on board goods, wares, and merchandize, taken in one state, to be delivered in another, at the rate of six cents per ton. On ships or vessels built within the United States since the 20th July, 1789, but owned wholly or in part by foreigners, when entered from a foreign port or place, at the rate of thirty cents per ton; on all other ships or vessels, when entered from a foreign port or place, at the rate of fifty cents per ton; and on all ships or vessels not of the United States, when entered in one district from another district, having on board goods, wares and merchandize, taken in one district to be delivered into another at the rate of fifty cents per ton.

To ascertain the tonnage of a ship, if the same be double decked, take the length thereof from the fore part of the main stem to the after part of the stern post above the upper deck; the breadth at the broadest part above the main wales; half of which breadth accounts the depth, deduct from the length three fifths of the breadth; multiply the remainder by the breadth, and that product by the depth, and divide the last product by ninety five. If the ship be single decked, take the length and breadth as above directed; take the depth from the under side of the deck plank to the ceiling in the hold; and deducting from the length three fifths of the breadth, multiply and divide as aforesaid.

Duties on tonnage must be paid within ten days after report of the cargo made to the collector; and any master of a vessel leaving or attempting to leave a port without paying such duties, forfeits five hundred dollars.

DRAWBACKS AND BOUNTIES.

ON all goods, wares and merchandize (spirits, manufactured tobacco, snuff and refined sugar excepted) for which duties, on importation, to the amount of twenty dollars, shall have been paid or secured, there is allowed, if the same within twelve calendar months, be re-exported to any foreign country, a drawback equivalent to the duties so paid or secured, deducting therefrom, as an indemnification for the expenses which may have accrued by storage, fees of officers, and the like, one per cent.

On spirits, if the same amount to one hundred and fifty gallons, and be exported in vessels of thirty tons and upwards, an allowance, by way of drawback, for every gallon exported, equal to the impost per gallon, according to the respective proofs, deducting, for the purposes aforesaid, half a cent per gallon: And on spirits distilled within the United States, from imported molasses, an additional allowance of three cents per gallon, to balance the duty on that article.

On pickled fish of the fisheries of the United States, eighteen cents per barrel, and on other provisions salted within the said States fifteen cents per barrel (provided the bounty amount to three dollars) at their exportation, as an equivalent for the duty on salt.

There is also an annual bounty payable on the last day of December, in lieu of a former allowance on dried fish, to the owners or agents of fishing vessels legally qualified and employed in carrying on the bank and other cod fisheries, and which shall be therein employed four months during the fishing season, reckoning from the last day of February to the last day of November, one dollar and twenty cents for every ton of the actual admeasurement of such vessel or boats, as are more than five or less than twenty tons burthen, and shall have landed during the preceding season a quantity of fish, which when cured and fit for exportation, shall be equal to twelve quintals for every ton of her said admeasurement; the allowance in this case to be accounted as part of the proceeds of the fares of the said boat or vessel, and to be so divided among the persons interested; one dollar and eighty cents for every ton of the admeasurement of such vessels as are between twenty and thirty tons burthen: and three dollars for every ton of such vessels as exceed thirty tons burthen; provided the allowance to any one vessel do not in a season, exceed one hundred and seventy dollars. The allowances in the two cases last mentioned are to be divided, three eighths to the owners of the vessels, and five eighths to the fishermen employed therein the preceding season, in such proportion as the quantity of fish by them respectively taken shall bear the whole quantity taken on board such vessels during the said season.

Besides the above specified drawbacks and allowances, which entitle the exporter, &c. to the receipt of money, there are sundry other allowances, which tend to diminish the duty to the importer, &c. Such are the allowances for leakage on liquors and for draught and tare on articles of weight

For the leakage on all liquors upon which duties are payable by the gallon, including spirits distilled within the United States, there is an allowance of two per cent. according to the gauge of the casks containing the same

For draught, on any quantity to the amount of an hundred weight, or 112 pounds	1
On any quantity, from one to two hundred weight	2
From two to three hundred weight	3
From three to ten hundred	4
From ten to eighteen hundred	7
On any quantity above eighteen hundred	9
For tare, on every whole chest of bohea tea	70
On every half chest	36
On every quarter chest	20
On every chest of hyson or other green-tea of the weight seventy pounds or upwards, gross	20
On every box of other tea, of not less than fifty pounds, nor more than seventy pounds, gross	18
All other boxes of tea, according to their invoice	per C.
On coffee, in bags	2
In bales	3
In casks	12
On Pepper, in bales	5
In casks	12
On sugar, other than half loaf, in casks,	12
In boxes	15
On all other goods according to the invoice.

It being lawful also in any case where the original invoice is produced, and the tare appears therein, the importer or consignee concurring, to estimate the tare according to such invoice.

The preceding are the principal cases in which drawbacks and premiums are recognized by congress: of the benefit of which no one can avail himself without a careful adherence to the rules and restrictions of the law. Which restrictions, being enacted for the prevention of fraud, are very particular and explicit; any material departure from which, will not only deprive the party of the benefit of the premium or drawback, but expose him to forfeiture, and in some cases both of goods and vessel. We shall, in a concise view, collect and set forth the principal regulations on the subject, with the forfeitures annexed to the violation thereof, for the information of those who may not have had opportunity or leisure to attend minutely to the laws: referring such as wish for more particular information to the several acts of Congress relative to imports.

In case of the exportation of goods, wares and merchandize, the exporter must, previous to lading them on board any vessel for that purpose, give to the collector of the district, from which the exportation is intended to be made, twenty-four hours notice of such his intention, specifying therein the several articles intended to be exported, together with the casks, cases, chests, boxes, and other packages containing the same, and, their respective marks, number and contents. And if they be imported articles notice must also be given of the ship or vessel, in which the person for, or by whom, and the place from which they were imported, accompanied with proof by oath of the persons, including the exporter, through whose hands they have passed, respecting their due importation, and the security of the duties thereupon. Proof must also be made in respect to pickled fish, and salted provisions, that the fish are of the fisheries of the United States, and that the provisions were salted therein. The exporter must further make oath that the said goods are, bona fide, intended to be exported; and enter into bond with sufficient sureties, in a sum equal to the amount of the drawback, not to re-land them within the limits of the United States, as settled by the late treaty of peace.

These requisitions being complied with on the part of the exporter, and the goods inspected by the collector, and found to correspond with the notice and proof respecting the same, a permit is granted for lading them.

But the drawback thereon is not payable till six months after their exportation, a written certificate from two reputable merchants at the foreign port or place where they shall have been landed, accompanied with the oath of the master and mate of the vessel, certifying their delivery, being required previously to be produced to the collector, with whom the outward entry was made; unless when the landing of the goods is prevented by some unavoidable accident, as shipwreck; in which case a protest, in due form of law, made by the master and mate, or some of the seamen; or when no such protest can be had, the oath of the exporter (unless there is good reason to suspect the truth of the same is permitted to be taken in lieu of such other proof.

These regulations being intended to prevent every kind of fraud, collusion, or deception, it is enacted, Sect. 59 of the "act to provide more equally for the collection of the duties imposed by law on goods, wares, and merchandize imported into the United States, and on the tonnage of ships and vessels," That if any goods, &c. entered for exportation, with intent to draw back the duties, or to obtain any allowance given by law on the exportation thereof, shall be landed in any port or place within the limits of the United States as aforesaid, all such goods &c. shall be subject to seizure and forfeiture, together with the ship or vessel from which such goods shall be landed, and the vessel or boats used in landing the same; and all persons concerned therein, shall, on conviction and indictment thereof, suffer imprisonment, for a term not exceeding six months.

In case also the exportation of spirits, whether of foreign or domestic distillation, notice as aforesaid must be given to the proper officer of inspection, six hours previous to putting them on board any vessel for that purpose, of the exporter's intention to export them, of the number of casks, vessels, and cases containing them, and the respective marks thereof, the place where they are then deposited, the ship or vessel in which, and the place to which they are intended to be exported. He must also produce to the said officer the certificates which by law ought to accompany them, and make oath as aforesaid of his true intention to export the same, and proof of the duties being paid or secured, and enter into bond with two sufficient sureties, (the master of the vessel being one) in a sum equal to the value of the spirits, not to re-land them. After which, being duly inspected and branded, they must be laden on board the vessel in presence of the officer who inspected them: And if afterward unshipped or re-landed within the limits of the United States, or within four leagues of the coast thereof, unless the voyage shall not have been pursued, or shall have been altered, or in distress of weather, (which distress must be immediately notified to the principal officer of the customs, residing at the nearest port thereto) both the said spirits and the ship, with her tackle, apparel, and furniture, and all boats or vessels employed in unshipping or landing the same, and their tackle and furniture, are forfeited, and are liable to seizure by any officer of the customs or of inspection. The payment of the drawback is also in this case deferred till six months after exportation.

And in case of allowances on fishing vessels, where the boats or vessels are under twenty tons, an account of the weight of fish caught, the original adjustment and settlement of the fare among the owners and fishermen, together with a written account of the length, breadth, and depth of the boat, or vessel, and the time she has been actually employed in the fishery during the preceding season, must be produced to the collector of the district authorised to pay the said allowance, and sworn or affirmed to before him, in order to entitle the owner, his agent or lawful representative, to receive the same. And if any fraud or deceit in obtaining such allowance, shall, at any time within a year after paying it, appear to have been practised, the boat or vessel, upon which the allowance shall have been paid, is by law forfeited, if found within the district; otherwise the owner having practised such fraud or deceit, forfeits and is liable to pay one hundred dollars.

Where the vessels are of twenty tons or upwards, an agreement in writing or print must, previous to any voyage, be made between the skipper or master and every fisherman, expressing the terms of shipment; whether the same are to continue for the voyage only, or for the season, and that the fish or proceeds of such voyage or voyages, which may appertain to the fishermen, shall be divided among them in proportion to the quantity of fish by them respectively caught; to be also indorsed or counter-signed by the owner or his agent.—Which agreement, together with a certificate, subscribed by the owner, his agent or lawful representative, and certifying on his or their oath, the particular day on which any vessel sailed on, or returned from the several voyages, which she may have made the preceding season, must, in like manner, be produced to the collector, before the said owner, &c. can be entitled to receive any allowance.

AN EXTRACT FROM AN ORDINANCE, TO PRESERVE THE HEALTH OF THE CITY.—PASSEED Feb. 27, 1799.

“ BE IT ENACTED AND ORDAINED, By the Mayor and City council of Baltimore, That five or more persons be annually appointed commissioners to constitute a board of health, whose duty it shall be to watch over the health of the city, to aid and assist the health officer for the time being, and to carry into effect the provisions of this ordinance.

“ AND BE IT ENACTED AND ORDAINED, That all ponds of stagnant water; all cellars and foundations of houses whose bottoms contain stagnant and putrid waters, all dead animals and putrefied substances lying in, or about the docks, streets, lanes, alleys or market places, vacant lots or yards, all privies that have no wells sunk under them, all grave yards, tallow chanderies, tanneries, sugar boilers, skin dressers, dyers, glue boilers and slaughter houses not properly regulated; all docks whose bottoms are alternately wet and dry by the ebbing and flowing of the tide; all collections of filth in the streets, lanes, alleys and gutters thereof; all accumulations of vegetable and animal substances undergoing a putrefactive fermentation, are hereby declared common nuisances, productive of offensive vapors and noxious exhalations, the domestic origin of diseases.

“ AND BE IT ENACTED AND ORDAINED, That if at any time the Commissioners of health shall report to the Mayor any of the aforesaid or other offensive substances, which in their judgment may endanger the health of the city, and which may be removeable, the mayor is hereby empowered to order the removal thereof, if on public property at the expense of the corporation, and if on private property to order the removal thereof by the owner or occupier of such property, allowing therefor in his discretion a reasonable time; and in case of non compliance with such order, he may direct the superintendant of the streets to remove the same at such owner or occupier's expense, and such owner or occupier shall be further liable to the penalty of forfeiting ten dollars, for the use of the corporation.

“ AND BE IT ENACTED AND ORDAINED, That whenever the health officer or the commissioners of health shall order any damaged hives, damaged coffee or other damaged goods found within the city, to be removed therefrom to any distance not exceeding three miles, and the person or persons owning or having charge of such articles, shall not comply with such order within six hours thereafter, every person so offending shall forfeit and pay the sum of one hundred dollars for every such neglect or refusal, and the sum of twenty dollars for every hour the same shall thereafter so remain, for the use of the corporation.

“ AND BE IT ENACTED AND ORDAINED, In order the more effectually to prevent the introduction of contagious diseases into the city, that at any time when the mayor of the city, shall receive satisfactory information of the existence of any contagious disease in any place on the continent with which the citizens of Baltimore may have communication or connexion, the mayor may and is hereby authorised to issue a proclamation, forbidding the entrance of all persons or things coming from such infected places into the city or within three miles thereof, and the citizens from having any communication with them for at least fifteen days, provide he, she or they cannot produce an approved certificate of their absence from such place for at least fifteen days previous thereto; but the mayor may, with the concurrence of a majority of the commissioners of health, make such exceptions to this general prohibition as to them may appear safe and prudent, and may in such proclamation, permit the entrance of such persons or things as may therein be designated, whom he may direct, previous to their entrance, to be examined by a physician or physicians, to be by him appointed for that purpose.

“AND BE IT ENACTED AND ORDAINED, That the commissioners of health, when thereto requested by the mayor, shall provide a house or houses, or tents, at such distance from the city as the mayor shall approve of, on or near the road on which travellers shall pass from such infected place, for their accommodation during their detention.

“AND BE IT ENACTED AND ORDAINED, That every person willingly and knowingly offending against the directions of said proclamation, shall forfeit and pay, in the discretion of the mayor, a sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, one half to the informer and the other half to the use of the corporation.

“AND BE IT ENACTED AND ORDAINED, That the commissioners of health shall meet at the court house or some other place in the said city, on the first Monday in the months of April, May, June, July, August, September, October and November, or as often as occasion may require for the purpose of collecting and receiving every possible information of the state of health of the city, &c.”—

☞ IN this Ordinance there is particular acts Passed, relative to vessels from suspected places, to perform quarantine;—of the health officer to visit each vessel at the anchoring place below the fort, with power of renewing the quarantine if necessary, for a limited time; also strict penalties on any master or masters, bringing up or landing any person or persons, with infectious diseases, without being examined by the health officer; likewise for concealing sick persons on board, and further, for landing, without giving proper notice, damaged hides, coffee, &c. with their respective discretionary and limited fines, forfeitures, &c.

ANOTHER EXTRACT FROM AN ORDINANCE, TO PREVENT AND REMOVE NUISANCES IN THE CITY AND PRECINCTS OF BALTIMORE.

PASSED, April 11th, 1797.

“ BE it enacted and ordained by the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore, That the inhabitants and occupiers of houses and lots, and sextons, porters, or other keepers of churches, meeting-houses, or other public buildings, or burying grounds, fronting the paved streets, lanes, or alleys within the said city, shall rake and sweep into the cart-way, the dirt, soil or filth to be found on the brick pavements, foot ways, and gutters before their respective houses, lots, dwellings, or public buildings, or cause the same to be done once in every week, that is to say, on every Friday, by ten o'clock in the forenoon (when the snow or ice on the same does not prevent) that it may be removed as is herein after provided, under the penalty of any sum not exceeding one dollar, for every neglect or refusal, for the use of the city.

“ AND BE IT ENACTED AND ORDAINED, That no person or persons whomsoever shall cast or lay, or cause to be cast or laid, any oyster shells, shavings, ashes, dirt, or stable manure, on any of the streets, lanes or alleys of the said city (unless the same be placed or laid in front of his, her, or their lot, and removed within two hours) under the penalty of two dollars for every such offence, for the use of the city.”

EXTRACT FROM

An ACT to erect Baltimore-Town, in Baltimore-County, into a city, and to incorporate the Inhabitants thereof.—Passed in the General Assembly of Maryland, the thirty first day of December, 1796.

WHEREAS, it is found by experience, That the good order, health, peace and safety of large towns and cities cannot be preserved, nor the evils and accidents to which they are sub-jea, avoided or remedied without an internal power, competent to establish a police and regulation, fitted to their particular circumstances, wants and exigencies, Therefore,

“ Be it enacted by the GENERAL ASSEMBLY of MARYLAND, That Baltimore-town, in Baltimore county, shall be and is hereby erected into a city, by the name of the city of Baltimore, and the inhabitants thereof constituted a body politic and corporate, by the name of the Mayor and city council of Baltimore, and as such shall have perpetual succession, and by their corporate name may sue and be sued, implead and be impleaded, grant, receive, and do all other acts as natural persons, and may purchase and hold real, personal and mixed property, or dispose of the same for the benefit of the said city, and may have and use a city seal, which may be broken or altered at pleasure. The city of Baltimore shall be divided into eight wards, each ward to contain, as nearly as may be, an equal number of inhabitants; the first division shall be made by seven respectable citizens, or a majority of them, to be appointed by the governor and council, and the corporation of the said city thereafter, from time to time, shall cause a correct division of the said city to be made in eight wards, according to the actual number of inhabitants, which divisions shall be repeated as often as the increase or decrease of inhabitants in any ward or wards shall render it necessary, in order to give a just representation; and when the inhabitants shall encrease to forty thousand, it shall then be divided into fifteen wards, and for any additional increase of inhabitants, one new ward only, shall be added for every twenty thousand, in order to preserve, as nearly as may be, an equal number of voters in each ward.

“ That the councils of the city of Baltimore, shall consist of two branches, one whereof shall be denominated the first branch, the other the second branch; the first branch shall consist of two members, of the most wise, sensible and discreet of the people from each ward, who shall be citizens of the United States, above twenty-one years of age, residents of the town three years preceding their appointment, and assessed on the books of the assessors, to the amount of one thousand dollars; and the voters for the first branch of the said city council shall have the same qualifications as voters for delegates to the general assembly of this state; and the said election shall be made viva voce.

“ That the corporation aforesaid shall have full power and authority to enact and pass all laws and ordinances necessary to preserve the health of the city, prevent and remove nuisances; to prevent the introduction of contagious diseases within the city, and within three miles of the same; to establish night watches or patrols, and erect lamps; to provide for a general survey of the city and precincts; to ascertain when necessary, the boundaries and location of the streets, lots, lanes, and alleys thereof to establish new streets, lanes and alleys, with the consent of the proprietors of the ground, and to alter and straighten streets, lanes and alleys, with the consent of the proprietors of the lots or houses adjoining such streets, lanes and alleys; to provide for the preservation of the navigation of the basin, and Patapsco river, within the limits of the city of Baltimore, and four miles thereof; for cleaning and deepening the basin and docks, and for regulating the station, anchoring and mooring of vessels; but no tax, direct or indirect shall be laid on that part of Baltimore called Deptford Hundred, for the preservation of the navigation of the basin, or for cleaning or deepening the basin or docks therein; to provide for licensing and regulating auctioneers and pawn-brokers, within the city and precincts thereof; to restrain or prohibit gaming, and to provide for licensing, regulating, or restraining theatrical or other public amusements, within the city or precincts; to erect and repair bridges; to pave and keep in repair all the necessary drains and sewers, and to pass all regulations necessary for the preservation of the same, to establish and regulate inspections within the city, subject to the future acts of the general assembly; to regulate and affix the size of bread; to provide for the safe keeping and preservation of the standard of weights and measures fixed by congress, and for the regulating thereby all weights and measures used within the city and precincts; to regulate party walls and partition fences; to erect and regulate markets; to provide for licensing and regulating (with the consent of the Maryland Insurance Fire Company) the sweeping of chimnies, and fixing the rates thereof within the city and precincts, and for regulating the sweeping of any chimney, by the neglect of which the safety of the city may be endangered, and to ascertain the width of those to be built in the city; to establish and regulate fire wards and fire companies; to regulate and establish the size of bricks that are to be used in the houses to be built in the city; to erect and regulate pumps in the streets, lanes and alleys; to impose and appropriate fines, penalties and forfeitures, for the breach of their bye-laws or ordinances; to lay and collect taxes, not exceeding two dollars in the hundred pounds in any one year, except as is before excepted; to enact bye-laws for the prevention and extinguishment of fires ; and to pass all ordinances necessary to give effect and operation to all the powers vested in the corporation of the city of Baltimore ; provided, that the bye laws or ordinances of the said corporation shall be in no wise obligatory upon the persons of non-residents of the said town, being citizens of this state, unless in cases of intentional violation of bye-laws or ordinances previously promulgated ; all the fines, penalties and forfeitures, imposed by the ordinances of the corporation of the city of Baltimore, if the exceeding twenty dollars, shall be recovered before a single magistrate, as small debts are by law recoverable ; and if such fines, penalties and forfeitures, do exceed the sum of twenty dollars, then to be recovered by action of debt in Baltimore county court, in the name of the corporation, and for the use of the city of Baltimore. ’

Geographical Description of BALTIMORE.

BALTIMORE, the largest and most flourishing commercial city in the state of Maryland, is situated in a county of its own name, and on the N. W. branch of Patapsco river. It extends from Harris’s creek on the S. E. until it reaches a branch of the western or main branch of the Patapsco, at Ridgely’s Cove. It is divided into two parts by Jones’s falls, or the north western branch, over which there are three wooden bridges. In the city the streets extend from E. to W. along the N. side of the basin, and these are again intersected by others at right angles, extending N. from it ; except a few which run in different directions. At Fell’s Point the streets also in general extend from E. to W. and are crossed by others at right angles ; but immediately on the Point there are few which run in various directions, as circumstances would admit of. On the E. side Jones’s Falls, there are some which extend parallel to it, and vary their course from the former. The number of streets lanes and alleys, are about 130 ; but several of these are yet without a building. The buildings are principally placed between Howard’s street and the Falls. The main street is 80 feet wide, and extends from E. to W. about three quarters of a mile; and is called Baltimore street. Pratt, Water, Second, and East streets, have the same direction, and are from 40 to 60 feet wide. These are intersected at right angles by Market-street, 150 feet wide, Frederick, Gay, Smith, Calvert, Charles, Hanover, and Howard-street, which are from 66 to 80 feet wide, and compactly built. There are others partly built, as Holliday street, 100 feet wide, where the new Theatre stands. Lovely, and St. Paul's lane, 30 feet wide, &c. The public buildings are a court-house, jail, 2 market-houses, a poor house, which stand on the N. W. side of the town; besides three banks, an exchange, and a theatre already mentioned. These last are private property. The bank of Maryland stands in South street, between Walnut-street and Lovcly lane; and was incorporated in 1791. Its capital is 300,000 dollars. The branch bank of the United States stands at the corner of Second and S. Gay-streets. The Baltimore Bank stands in Baltimore street, No. 154. The court-house is a brick building erected upon an arch, in the N. end of Calvert street. In the next square, a little to the N. W. is the jail. The houses for public worship, are eleven, viz. one for Episcopalians, one for Presbyterians, one for German Lutherans, one for German Calvinists, one for the Reformed Germans, one for Nicolites or New-Quakers, one for Baptists, one for Roman Catholics, and two for Methodists, one of which stands at Fell's-Point. The Presbyterian church stands in East-street, has a handsome portico, and is supported by six pillars in front. It is well finished, and is one of the most elegant churches in America. The houses, as numbered in 1787, were 1,955; about 1,200 of these were in the town, and the rest at Fell's Point. The number of houses at present is about 3500; the greatest part of these are brick and many of them are handsome and elegant. The number of warehouses is about 170, chiefly placed contiguous to the harbor; and the number of inhabitants, according to the census taken in 1791, was 13,758, of whom 1,255 were slaves; but this must be far short of the present number. The basin is on the S. side of the town, in which the water at common tides is from 8 to 9 feet deep. The harbor at Fell's point is deep enough to admit ships of 500 tons burthen. The situation of part of the town is low, and was unhealthy until a large marsh was reclaimed about 27 years ago; since which time, the town has been as healthy as any other in the United States. Where the marsh formerly was, there is a market space 150 feet wide, which we have mentioned above; on each side is a row of buildings with the market house in the centre. Perhaps the increase of houses, and consequently of smoke, together with the improvements which have been made in paving the streets, and keeping them clean, may also have contributed in rendering it so healthy. The articles manufactured here are sugar, rum, tobacco, snuff, cordage, paper, wool and cotton cards, nails, saddles, boots, shoes, ship building in all its various branches; besides a variety of other articles. Within 18 miles of the town, there are 50 capital merchant mills, one powder mill, and two paper mills, besides several furnaces and two forges. Twelve of the merchant mills, are within four miles of the town, on Jones's Falls, and four others are about the same distance, on two other streams. Adjoining the town is a large mill, with four pair of stones, six feet in diameter, which can manufacture 140 barrels of flour each day. About two miles W. of the town is another large mill belonging to Messrs. Ellicotts, with four pair of stones, seven feet diameter, capable of manufacturing 150 barrels of flour in a day; the water course is about a mile in length, one third part of which is cut out of the solid rock; in this distance the water gains 65 feet fall. The rapid increase of Baltimore has even surprised its friends; and it now ranks as the third commercial port in the Union. There were belonging to it in 1790, 27 ships, 1 sloop, 31 brigantines, 34 schooners and 9 floops; total, 102 vessels, containing 13,564 tons. In the year ending the last day of December 1797, the shipping amounted to 59,837 tons. The exports in 1790, amounted to 2,027,770 dollars, and the imports to 1,945,899—balance in favour of Baltimore 81,971 dollars. In the year ending September 1794 the exports amounted to 5,942,248 dollars; and in 1798, ending September 30th, to 12,000,000 and upwards. Mr. Morse in his Gazetteer, says of Baltimore; "in size it is the fourth, and commerce the fifth in rank in the United States." On what authority he makes the first part of his publications we know not. In looking into his own observations, we find he contradicts himself; for he allows a greater population to Charleston, which, when the census was taken in 1791, was the fourth in size; and contained about three thousand people more than Baltimore. We believe Baltimore has, since that period, increased more in wealth and population, than any town in the United States; but whether it exceeds Charleston in population, at the present day, he has no authority we presume, for saying it; because no census was taken since 1791, and therefore it must be, with him, mere conjecture. With respect to his asserting it is "in commerce the fifth in rank in the United States;" he in this discovers either a want of recollection, or a total ignorance of the subject. In looking over the exports of the United States, published by Mr. Coxe, commissioner of the revenue. In 1796, for five years ending September 30th, 1795, we find, in a commercial view, Pennsylvania ranks first, New-York second, Massachusetts third, Maryland fourth, and South-Carolina fifth. Massachusetts has more sea ports than any state in the union, from which commerce is carried on with foreign countries. These necessarily lessen the exports of Boston, so that we find in 1794, Baltimore exported to the amount of 2,512,545 dollars more than Boston, and 1,447,856 dollars more than Charleston, the exports of which exceeded Boston 1,064,689 dollars; yet Boston he ranks as the third commercial town in the union. Perhaps he will, in the next edition of his Gazetteer, make another advance towards truth, and place Baltimore in its proper rank, as the third commercial city in the United States. It is peopled from various parts of the union, and from different countries in Europe. The inhabitants by mixing together in a social and friendly manner, have a politeness in their address and conversation, which renders them pleasant and agreeable companions. It contains more men of wealth or of probity, in commercial transactions, in proportion to its population, than any of the seaport-towns in the union. This is demonstrable from its exports being greater than either Boston or Charleston, each of whose population was more numerous in 1791. Its exports are much larger in proportion to its population, than either Philadelphia or New-York; for if population be the standard of wealth, each of these cities ought to export twice the amount that Baltimore does. This reasoning is obvious, and proves what we have stated; that Baltimore possesses a larger proportion of men of wealth, or of probity in commercial affairs, than any of the seaport towns, as its trade is so much greater in proportion to its population; for it is self-evident that all commercial transactions, are carried on by means either of wealth or of credit, which last is founded on probity and punctuality; and when the commerce of a people surpasses the ordinary proportion, it is of itself a proof that they possess either one or other of these in a great degree.

Baltimore was incorporated, and declared a city, by an act of the legislature of Maryland, passed on the 31st day of December 1796. It is governed by a mayor; and city council, consisting of two branches. The first branch is composed of two members from each ward; at present there are sixteen members in this branch. The second branch consists of eight members. A member of the first branch must be twenty one years of age, a citizen of the United States, three years resident in Baltimore before his election, and rated on the assessors books at one thousand dollars. The voters for this branch must have the same qualifications, as those who vote for members of the General Assembly of Maryland. The election is annual, and made viva voce. A member of the second branch must be 25 years of age, a citizen of the United States, four years a resident in the city previous to his election, and rated on the assessors books at two thousand dollars. The members of this branch are chosen every second year, by the first branch. The mayor who is elected by the first branch also, continues in office two years, must be twenty five years of age; ten years a citizen of the United States, and five years a resident of the place before his election. His salary is fixed by an ordinance of the corporation; last year it was two thousand four hundred dollars. He appoints all officers of the corporation; the second branch in case of a vacancy, nominates two citizens, one of whom the mayor commissions. Baltimore is 50 miles N. E. of Washington city, 176 N. N. E. of Richmond, and 102 S. W. by W. of Philadelphia. Lat. 39. 18. N. Lon. 1. 35. W.

The Gold and Silver coins of Great Britain and Portugal of their present standard, at the rate of eighty-nine cents for one pennyweight; and those of France and Spain at the rate of eighty seven cents for one pennyweight; the Spanish milled dollar, weighing not less than seventeen pennyweights and seven grains, at one hundred cents; and the crowns of France, containing not less than eighteen pennyweights and seventeen grains at 110 Cents, but at the expiration of three years after the coining of Gold and Silver shall commence at the Mint of the United States, all foreign coins will by law cease from being a legal tender, except Spanish milled dollars and parts thereof. And at the expiration of six months after cents and half cents to the value of 50,000 dollars shall have been issued, all other copper coins are forbidden, under the penalty of ten dollars, and the forfeiture of the pieces so offered.

By an act of Congress passed the 9th of February, 1793, all foreign Silver coins, except Spanish milled dollars and parts thereof, cease to be a legal tender for the payment of debts after the 15th of October, 1767; and all foreign Gold coins after the 31st of July, 1798.

THERE is no publication in large and populous cities of more general use than a Directory, and no work of its size, that more time, labour and expence is sacrificed, than in compiling a publication of this nature. The Subscriber was well aware of its difficulty, and of the impossibility to avoid errors, more particular in this city, where a great part of the houses were not numbered; this it is hoped a generous public will allow of, and attribute the names that may (if any) be found wrong, to improper information being given, when called on.

Any Removals or Omissions that may have taken place, are annexed, and may be found in the supplement.

To the Directory is likewise subjoined, a number of useful articles, which the Merchant and private Citizen, are equally in want of, and by referring to the Contents, page 141, they will find them, with their respective folios as placed in the work.

In the title there are mentioned a few articles which could not be procured, in place of which, are substituted, Extracts from the city Ordinances of 1798 & 1799, relative to the mode to be adapted to preserve the health of the city; likewise a Geographical Description of the City of Baltimore, &c.

The whole being made of general utility to every class of citizens, influences the publisher to expect an early application to a work of so much genuine information.
